THE SEYMOUR HOUSE

This Greek Revival house was built by John Seymour in 1836 across the dirt road (now Rt. 113) from the village. Six generations of Seymours lived in this house. It was relocated to the Village in 1975, a gift of Curt and Alice Ireland.

John Seymour was the postmaster of Lyme Post Office. His wife ran a millinery shop in this house. Strange partitions in the basement suggest hiding places for slaves, as a station on the Underground Railroad.
